Case Number	Open Closed	Conclusion	Event Date and Time	Suburb / Town Name	Please include additional information
1	Closed	Insufficient data to reach a result.	2/10/2011 21:17	Cranbourne North	The object made one change in direction at the start of the sighting. It appeared as a bright star with no sound, moved gently across the sky before vanishing abruptly.
2	Closed	Insufficient data to reach a result.	27/10/2011 0:00	MOORABBIN AIRPORT	IMAGES SENT TO ANDREW. SEVERAL OTHER SIGHTINGS SAT 29-10-2011. THESE ARE HIGH SPEED DISCS OF SOME SORT. PRETTY SURE THEY ARE NOT DUST, BIRDS OR PLANES OR RUBBISH. HAVE BEEN A TRAINED OBSERVER AND PROFESSIONAL PHOTOGRAPHER ALONG WITH PILOT.
3	Closed	Celestial Body, most likely a comet	24/01/2012 20:15	Cranbourne North	Last night (Tues Jan 24, 2012) I had a pretty good sighting, my best one to date (I've had a couple of minor sightings which I've deduced were satellites, or similar). I was out the front of my house at about 10:15ish getting something out of my car, when I looked up and noticed a light moving through the sky. It was about the size of Venus or Mars in the sky, but was much brighter. It was moving through the sky at about the same speed as a plane moves through the sky, but I could distinguish that it wasn't a plane as it looked to be at a much higher altitude and didn't have the accompanying flashing lights usually seen. The object moved through the sky from south to north for about 20-30 seconds before reducing in size and brightness on the spot. It was as if the object was moving up through and out the atmosphere.

5	Closed	Celestial Body, most likely a meteorite	4/03/2012 19:00	Corio	I did see one on March 5th. Channel 9 reported it as a "slow moving meteor" and their supposed eye witnesses said it was like a red fireball with a huge long tail but that was not what I saw. I suspect fake eye witness reports? What I saw was a round / slightly egg or oval shaped bright white light with zero tail. It was moving very slowly from west to east and I estimate it to have been a mere few hundred meters above ground. There was no noise or flashing lights to indicate it was a plane or helicopter. I watched it with my daughter and flat mate for about 10 minutes until it was out of sight. We were so mesmerized that we couldn't take our eyes off it to go get a camera. Though I wish I did now as it seems no one else caught it on video either. I have seen other things on occasion which I thought were ufo's too but nothing as clear to the eye as this was.
6	Closed	Insufficient data to reach a result.	24/12/2010 0:00	mordialloc	smaller object emerged from inside larger object and made erratic movements around larger object but did not stray very far from larger object
7	Closed	Insufficient data to reach a result.	1/05/2012 18:56	Rosebud	Looking out my kitchen window in Rosebud I can see the sky which would be above bass strait. I noticed a white floating ball. It was just floating in this position for the longest time. I have seen this a number of times but in different positions in the sky each night. I have also noticed at night the sound of white noise. It sounds like a generator running at low frequency. I have asked my neighbours and they have heard this sound as well. We notice it at night when everything is quiet. Weird. I have only just moved down to Rosebud in 2010 and wondered if anyone else has noticed either this object in the sky or experienced this low frequency sound??
10	Closed	Insufficient data to reach a result.	20/05/2012 0:57	Geelong/Grovedale	One to west low on horizon. One to East at about 45deg, one to north about 45deg, one to south was brightest low on horizon. Stable lights, different visual appearance to stars. Light much more defined, through binoculars, cycling through colours.

9	Closed	Suspect this is not a genuine submission by the witness	8/07/2012 18:50	Reservoir	Just looked up, noticed what I thought was a planet, thought it might be Jupiter as you can normally almost see its moons with the naked eye. They usually make Jupiter look a bit lop-sided, as if its got a short spike out the side of it. I then noticed that it was moving due North at about the speed of a satellite. This was brighter than a satellite. My binoculars were 5 seconds away so I grabbed them to get a closer look. What I saw in the binoculars were two star like objects, the first one appearing to follow the second one at a close distance. They did not move with respect to each other, so they both could have been fixed onto the same object. It was moving at a steady speed staying on its vector. From the point when I first saw it to the point where I ran inside it had become dimmer. There were no wing lights, no red or blue lights, no other colors, no headlights, and no flashing lights. I looked at it carefully for about 40 seconds to make sure it was not a normal plane. I live near an airport corridor and see planes every day. If there was an object attached to the two lights, I could not see it. I then ran through the house to go out the front to get a continued view. When I got outside I could not find it again to my disappointment. In Melbourne it is very cold, so I was lucky to see it considering outside is usually avoided at this kind of temperature. When I first saw it, it was about 75 to 80 degrees elevation from the horizon. It was nearly directly above me.

11	Closed	Insufficient data to reach a result.	27/07/2012 4:00	melbourne	recently my girlfirend and I went on a short holiday to to snow at mt.Hotham- on the way home, i was snapping landscape photos out the car window, as I am a painter- and take a lot of random reference photo's- anyway, we didn't notice anything at the time, but this week as i processed them, she noticed an object in one of the photo's...I checked the rest of the pictures and it's not a spot on the window or anything explainable, like a refection in the car etc..etc...I sent you the original, and a close-up and filtered photoshopped image, that shows just how real this image is, feel free to contact me.
12	Closed	Most likely to be a satellite	9/09/2012 19:52	armadale	There were 2 of them approx 500m apart and approx 80-100 thousand feet up south east of armadale.                  What my girlfriend and I thought we saw were 2 planets but then they started moving then quickly dissappeared. They were in formation.

15	Closed	This is possibly a chinese lantern or plastic bag	3/10/2012 17:40	Boronia Heights	This was the report I had submitted yesterday on onlymelbourne.com.au as follows: Today I had witnessed a broad daylight UFO sighting while trying to coax my cat inside the house. The cat refused to budge and consequently, I was able to witness something fantastic. I had noticed what initially appeared to be a helicopter coming from the north and so I was waiting to hear the accompanying noise. As the object came closer, I noticed that there was no distinguishing aircraft characteristics and the strangest thing of all was the fact that there was no noise. The object moved smoothly and fast through the sky and also appeared to be shape shifting or rotating as it flew. The colours were changing between red and black. The object continued along a strait trajectory heading south and appeared to fly faster than any typical aircraft I have seen before. Thanks for allowing me to share this exciting story.
18	Closed	Insufficient data to reach a result.	19/09/1989 22:24	mitcham	there were two lights siting behind clouds. i waited the clouds moved to show a three sided pyramid spinning. the other one was a up side down cone shaped and didn't move at all

20	Closed	This is remote controlled model planes with L.E.D lights	5/01/2013 12:45	Belmont, Geelong,	To whom it may concern, Ive written the Geelong advertiser, with no response. I wasnt sure how to report this, but then found your site. Thankyou so much for being available so I can report this. Friday night the 4th January 2013, my family and I witnessed and experienced two unusal and unidentified objects in the sky moving at rates and in sequences that seem to be not possible for any object we have seen or experienced before. It was larger than a star, and was an extremely clear night with glowing moon. When we were viewing this from our nature strip, this occured to the right of the moon, in between the Southern Cross star and the Moon. East/South East in the sky. These objects were incredibly brighter than the brightest star we could see in the sky.This was seen from Belmont, Geelong.....from about 12.45am till 3.00am. At about 12.30 am, I was falling asleep. The family were already asleep. About 10/15 mins after this, I heard my dog buddy in the other room where the kids were sleeping in the lounge room. A noise like buddy crying, running, whimpering, eager to get outside in desperation. On previous occasions if he needed to go toilet he would on a lesser more softer way, cry once or twice, and he would be at the side door waiting. This time the whimpering was with a type of hurried, now, "I have to get out now". Something was up, or something was outside he was wanting to get to. We started to think someone might be around our house. He was waiting at the front door. I have not seen him do this before, and called him to the side door where he ran straight to try and get out the front. So out the front he went, and my partner and I followed, telling the kids to stay inside (buddy woke everyone)....we thought there might be a person near the house.... We watched him frantically searching, sniffing, racing to the nature strips, whilst we searched and couldn't find anyone....in that moment two dogs raced around

					the corner towards us and ran straight past! And thats when I look around and upwards. As I turned and looked, there was two objects in the sky, big light balls in the sky, bigger and brighter than the stars shining, moving in different directions of each other, and then coming back to each other...moving. And yelled out to my partner and pointed "look!" We saw Two balls/spears of light. One red, one blue, both changing colour as they glided in the sky, green, gold, yellow, white, back to red, back to blue, not in sequence, and both different to each other. Like different controlled spheres. Illuminated so brightly the stars were dull in brightness in comparison to the pure light of these spears. As we watched, these balls were coming in close to each other, then ascending out from one another, one going slow the other going fast, upwards, downwards, circling, short quick movements, darting and completely still, no movement in other moments. All sorts of movement. One particular moment, one light ball travelled straight up in a line, starting from down near the horizon to parallel with where the moon was in the sky in a matter of seconds. Straight up. The light spheres were not in sync with each other yet were travelling as a partnership. The lights changing to pure incredible colours as movement was made. And even when moments of being stationary. I ran inside to get my phone, the kids, still waiting inside, saw my urgency, they followed me outside to be greeted by the unexplained vision before them. In awe they looked, eyes wide and mouths open, my daughter saying she's scared and my son trying to make sense of it, but had a huge smile on his face. With much reassurance by me that all is ok....wonder, fascination became infectious between us. 2 hours this continued for, whilst my phone went dead and was put on recharge, I eventually managed to gather photos on the iPhone, trying to gather this moment, noticing it was not bringing up the images as it was seen to us, and taking photos in the dark, having faith that this amazingly unique night vision we were witnessing would be captured. The quality is not sharp, I so wish I had a good camera! There was many moments where we all gasped and it blew our minds. The beauty of these lights moving, in what seems to be a beautiful still universe with stars....the unbelievable purity of the brightest colours emitting from this

					lights, incredible. The spheres separated for quiet a while after the first 30 mins or so, however we could still see one through the break in trees very close to the horizon, near what seemed to be Queenscliffe way, but could have been over the Ocean there, it was had to discern the distance they were at. The other sphere, red, turning green light, then bright white, darted around and seemed to be exploring, then stationary, then exploring a little more, then almost just dancing around like in a little circle, then quick zig zag then to slow travel. I began to realise, if buddy didnt send us outside, we would be asleep throughout this. There has been no reports of sightings, nothing in paper and on any websites. It seems, which we did look at each other in amazement, That maybe we were the only ones whom witnessed...We wondered how no one else would see these? these were so prominent in the sky, and if anyone was outside, you could not miss these, it was very clear, and the green/red/blue/coloured moving objects were very noticeable. I have a small amount of footage on video. Where the quality is not clear due to iPhone, however you can see the (very small) bright light, when we watched with the naked eye, it was bigger moving and changing colour in fast and amazing ways and the object was about the size 4mm...on the footage you can see the object and it looks about 1mm and the darting is very quick and contained, and really need to watch the light and video over and over to go deep into this image, to gather a snippet of what we actually saw with our eyes. It does not capture this experience as it was, after many attempts of filming, this was the only that you could see a little of the light. all the other footage, i was talking and explaining in the moment what we were experiencing, however the vision was black. If there was some way of zooming in on the image as it was playing, im sure a better footage would be seen. This footage is on my phone. I have a few photos, but only can put three here. I captured mostly one sphere, as the other was off lower to the Horizon, however I do have some of both near each other. i also have an image of it being blue, and then some position, then red. Kind Regards KEREN GARDNER-DYER

24	Closed	Reflection or lens flare from an existing bright light	31/01/2013 0:00	Nagambie, Vic, 3608	I was taking photos of a stormy sky, didn't see any objects whilst taking the photos, but when I downloaded them from my camera, a big bright light seemed to be ascending from the ground into to the sky...(Your Report Sheet didn't allow me to leave blank so I have estimated answers from the look of the photos) The photos were taken only seconds apart. Our property abuts the lake, although these photos were taken looking out west. I feel a bit silly submitting this, but cant help wondering. Could it have been a UFO or is there some other explanation?
27	Closed	Insufficient data to reach a result.	2/03/2013 0:00	Ocean Grove	12:08am second sighting west over Geelong region. Seemed over land area. First was at 9:18pm over sea. 39	Closed	Insufficient data to reach a result.	20/12/1961 3:19	Briar Hill	Although I was only aged 10, I remember it well. I was with my mother and her mother at Moonee Ponds Melbourne, late afternoon about 4pm with a clear/cloudless blue summer sky. We clearly agreed we were watching three discs sailing high and quietly - with no vapour trail - from East-North-East (commencing well east of Strathmore) to just north of us in Moonee Ponds and they disappeared to the North-West way past Footscray. From their great height they looked like flat pennies (round and bronze and from our perspective about the size of a penny). They were flying silently and considerably faster than planes of the time. Noticeably they were flying in perfect formation with no sound or vapour trail and there was one slightly in front of the other two side by side (the combination making a V). From the time we saw them from the north-eastern horizon and fly out of sight to the west-south-west, they took about 4-6 minutes and kept the same height and perfect 'V' formation. They weren't particularly fast, but a twin prop-jet passenger plane of the day would have taken about 2-3 times as long to cross the same horizon/distance. The Essendon airport was well to the north of the line of travel and they were far too high to be from a nearby airfield or to be landing near one. I've never witnessed one, let alone three such perfectly round, flat, flying discs. I'm still dumbfounded: unable to comprehend what they may have been or where they came from.

44	Closed	Lens refraction, distorted optics	26/03/2013 7:18	Hawthorn East	I thought that it was a large, bright star, I ran in to get my camera and I took some photos. Then it suddenly disappeared. I then went inside and put the digital images on my computer and was surprised at how it looked. I expected only to see bright light, but there is definitely a jagged sphere with light aura around it.
45	Closed	Insufficient data to reach a result.	1/11/2010 17:10	Langwarrin	I was travelling in my car with 2 young children in peak hour on the Frankston Freeway heading towards Frankston. It was glarry so i put my sunglasses on, thats when I saw it in the sky. It wasn't visible without my glasses. It was irridescent 3 cones side by side the middle largest, all shimmered in silvers, blues, purples with tails, and glided horizontally, very fast towards the bay, it was an awesome sight. But I was a little stirred by it as I knew something had to be inside piloting this thing that I had witnessed. I wondered how many others had seen it as it was peak hour travelling over the freeway through light clouds and sunny blue sky.
46	Closed	Aircraft	8/05/2013 4:55	Noble Park	Spotted something strange as I was having a smoke this morning, it was a very clear night and was looking at the stars and as I was doing so I saw a pin point of light appear as if a star had just somehow appeared out of nowhere, as I continued to look the light was basically flashing every couple of seconds and the light seemed to be like a star with a strobing effect but very much brighter than a star like a distant torch occasionally aiming the torch at you but it was in a very controlled manner every 2 seconds for about 20 seconds , every time it flashed on it had moved across the sky but it travelled in a "C" shape with the "C" laying on its back horizontally across the sky, if you had your arm outstretched it had only moved about 15 cm in your field of view, I got my iPhone out to check which way I was facing and according to that I was facing about 10 degrees north, it seemed to be very far away and high in the sky at least 60 degrees.

47	Closed	Most likely to be a satellite	13/05/2013 18:00	mooroolbark	was six thirty at night clear sky stars were clearly vissable with lots out was looking at the stars when i noticed the biggest one caught my eye as it was moving it crossed the sky at a steady pace and was as high as the stars then i watched it get smaller it turned a redish colour and vanished out of sight
51	Closed	Most likely the star Canopus	25/06/2013 19:20	Bunbartha	I spend a lot of time watching the night sky and neither myself or my partner have ever seen something such as this. It was not a star a plane or planet and after getting very good photos and video of the object I am perplexed as to what it could be. it hovered but also irratically moved up and down and moved large distances in a minimal amount of time. viewed a storey on Win news about an older man who witnessed and photographed something similar 12hrs after my first sighting some 200km away. The object was also visible the following night. I used multi shot action on my camera and the object changes colour very quickly and when zoomed in on, it has no definable edges
52	Closed	Most likely the star Canopus	25/06/2013 19:20	bunbartha	my partner and I spend a lot of time viewing the night sky and neither of us have seen something such as this. my eye was drawn to a brighter than venus star like object that seemed to be flashing purple, red, green, yellow, blue and would 'bob' up and down. it was stationary so I grabbed my camera with 42x zoom. I was able to get multi shots over a second plus a video. after zooming in on the item we were even more perplexed by what we were watching. it has no definable edges and not a 'mass'. the item started to move and everytime we went back outside to look for it, it was in a different part of the sky. still either hovering or 'bobbing' sharply. I saw a storey on Win news and 12hrs after our first sighting a man 200+km away saw the same thing and also got pictures not unlike mine, just not as clear. It was present again last night but in a different part of the sky (south west)

57	Closed	Circles created by vehicle, possibly a street sweeper	5/07/2013 11:30	Richmond	Last Friday morning i went to check the mail and noticed many circular shapes in random places all over the road out the front of my house. There must have been over 30 and ranged over a distance of maybe 25 meters. My house was in the middle of this 25 meters. These circles seemed to be joined in rows, however were not straight. They looked perhaps like the marks landing pads would make if a ship landed slowly while moving forwards (eventually resting on these pads, making the marks). On seeing these i felt a chill run through me straight away and looked around for someone to comment on these marks with but found the whole road empty. This was strange as i live on a normally very busy street, and this was around 11am on a regular business day. I inspected the circles for a moment but felt something odd was happening or had happened and felt i should get off the street. On getting back inside i remembered the night before my cat acting very strange. He bit me (for the first time ever), was scowling, and rolling around on the floor flipping from side to side, then docile, then would flip out again. Very strange. Anyway, i believe that whatever happened outside my house last night either effected my, or my cat's psyche or mind. I have not seen the rings again. On a side note however, i have noticed that each night there are 4 spotlights roaming the sky (i think coming from Rod Laver Arena, or possibly Doclands) If asked, Melbourne city council would say that it is a promotion for a concert or something like that, but i think they might be deterrents for any more UFO ships that might be in our area.

62	Closed	This is most likely to be the International Space Station (ISS)	17/08/2013 8:40	Rowville	Was in backyard and looked up in time to see object cross the sky. Duration aprox 2 1/2 seconds. Time: 8.40pm. From my vantage point object was in front of the constellation of Scorpio heading toward Melbourne city from Rowville. Object appeared to be in the shape of (looked like) a power pole with double cross bars with 4 lights on each extremity. Appeared as if re-entering from another space/time parallel? Disappeared as quick as it appeared.

68	Closed	Reflection or lens flare from an existing bright light	8/09/2013 9:04	Footscray	When I took the photo the object and its aura were not there. As far as I was concerned I was photographing a sea/skyscape.
69	Closed	Celestial Body, most likely a star	22/09/2013 19:30	MOOROOLBARK	THE OBJECT WAS GLOWING AND SPARKLING LIKE AN OVERSIZED STAR BUT WAS STATIONARY. IT WAS NOT A HELICOPTER. IT WAS WAS FAR SOUTH EAST FROM WHERE I WAS. I LIVE IN MOOROOLBARK, 38KM NORTH EAST FROM MELBOURNE. IT APPEARED TOWARDS STH EAST BUT WAS VERY VISABLE. I STAYED WATCHING IT FOR 5 MIN. THEN WENT INSIDE AND TOLD MY WIFE. WHEN I CAME OUT 2 HOURS LATER, IT WAS GONE.
70	Closed	Most likely to be a satellite	28/09/2013 0:55	Canadian	Object was fast, travelling from North to south exactly. Slow flashing lights not like an airplane..NO SOUND. Est 14-18 kms away...est 5-8 kms up.....
73	Closed	Most likely to be a satellite	2/11/2013 9:30	PRAHRAN	Was on holiday at Gunbower Victoria aprox 25 minutes north from Echuca was in a Hot Tub with a friend the sky was brilliant and we were taking the time to star gaze we had seen some shooting stars and satellites already. We both saw a large orb, very bright moving from South-West to North East across the sky. At first we thought it was a plane and then the spotlight on a helicopter but as it got closer it didn't change shape and remained a constant bright round orb it flew reasonably close but there was no noise from the object as it passed over and there were not running lights or blinking lights as you might get from a plane or regular object. The object was moving at high speed compared to other planes that we saw that night.

74	Closed	Most likely the star Canopus	10/11/2013 22:30	mentone	The object hardly moved, was like a star but a little bit bigger. It was emitting light , but light changed the color (pulsating) ..blue, red and very light yellow . I watched the object for about an hour...Maybe moved a little bit but I'm not sure. The object didn't disappear (I went to bed). I do not think it was the star (they do not change color as far as I know). Would like to know what it was (not sure if space station or satelites can emit any lights of that power). I watched from Mentone toward Frankston (south/south east). I filmed 1-2 minute on my mobile

78	Closed	Insufficient data to reach a result.	27/11/2010 20:30	Melbourne	I had been researching ufo's on the internet and had bought a camera that day to go skywatching i was hungry and i thought to go buy dinner but i was thinking to take the camera but i left it when i started the car i started driving back out the driveway when i almost goto to the end a big ship appeared infront of my eyes it was no more than 250 feet from me. At first i thought it was a plane becasue it was moving slow but upon it stopping in mid air i realised it was way close to me than a plane could be and it apparently was a little hard to focus on any way i thought to go grab the camera and as i looked at the ship i notice windows on it and i decided i should not then i started having a very intense thought as i sat there after about ten seconds of thought i thought to drive off. Later i saw something that was a bit closer to my neighbors house i was dark by now and the thing i saw was black it reminded me of a video on youtube with a police officer that said he saw a flying witch. I didnt know what to make of it but it did take me by suprise and i always feel a little chilled by it whenever i think of it. Sorry i donthave any photos of the event.

CLOSED VUFOA CASES AS AT FEBRUARY 2ND 2015-02-05

92	Closed	Lack of witness support, insufficient information	20/02/2014 13:28	Brunswick	Yesterday afternoon as I as sitting in my office in Brunswick on the first floor when my boss noticed something out the window facing south towards Brunswick West/Essendon area. It was a few kilometres away, low in the sky below the clouds. But it was still, not moving at all. At first we all got excited and went over to the window trying to identify what it was. It was a slender silver or highly reflective object with a slight bulge in the middle. At first I thought it was a shiny smallish aeroplane (since Essendon Fields is not far away) but the fact it was not moving and did not have a fuselage I began to realise what I was seeing. I could not for the life of me tell you what this thing was, but it was a wide, slim craft of some kind. I went to grab my phone and realising I would have to zoom in quite a bit to capture it I looked up towards the UFO and it was gone. I turned to my co-worker and asked where did it go? She replied that she didn't know, it just faded away. Crazy.

UFO, globe surrounded by pinky light, was taken first immediately before UFO 2, white object in water. I didn't see the objects to photograph them, they just appeared in the photo. UFO 2 could be a phone camera fault.

116	Closed	This is most likely to be the International Space Station (ISS)	6/09/2014 16:20	Brunswick	My partner saw it as well. It was a bright floating round object towards West of Brunswick, VIC. It was moving in a circular floating motion and emitted bright white light like a bright star. Then we were watching it for about a minute or two then it suddenly disappeared as if it was sucked by the sky. No clouds were nearby and the moon is up in bright day light towards East of Brunswick.

118	Closed	Inconclusive possibly birds	29/09/2014 0:00	Glen Waverley	On Monday 29/09/14 at about noon we were travelling on Great Ocean Road (possibly somewhere between Lorne and Apollo Bay) when we stopped to admire the view. My daughter (11) took some pics with her iphone4. Not sure what this is - could be a bird? I was also looking at the view but in the other direction and didn't notice this but it came up on her photo. Could be nothing - just thought I'd seek opinion. Thanks :-)
